

Recruit an Apprentice for your business

Interested in taking on an apprentice or trainee but don't want to commit to the full three year period or are unsure how much it will cost? Fortunately, Skill360 Australia exists to make it easy to take the next step easy.

Skill360 Australia can organise an apprentice or trainee for your business wherever you are, in both city and regional areas in all states and territories. If you had never thought about group training as an option, consider the following:

Group training and your business:

- ◆ You can take on an apprentice or trainee irrespective of the size of your business – we work with sole operators and multi-national corporations.
- ◆ Today's training system means you can take on an apprentice or trainee irrespective of what industry you are working in.
- ◆ Skill360 Australia looks after the complex government forms and associated legal documentation.
- ◆ You can choose your own apprentice or trainee, however we can also recruit one on your behalf.
- ◆ We interpret the employment award, calculate the wages, leave and other entitlements and even pay the apprentice or trainee. All you receive is a simple weekly invoice.

In addition to making the process hassle free, Skill360 Australia provides the mentoring and career guidance to ensure that the apprentice or trainee obtains their qualification.

Depending on the type of training required, it can be provided by either Skill360 Australia or TAFE, however it is usually cheaper for you if Skill360 Australia provides the training – an our approach is more flexible than TAFE's as our training is done either on-site or over two or three days rather than the four week blocks preferred by TAFE.

Skill360 Australia is the nation's leading group training provider, recognised for our ability to work with businesses of all sizes take on an apprentice or trainee. It doesn't matter what size your company is or what industry sector you are in, Skill360 Australia can get you started today.
